Data as at: 30 April 2026

The FTSE Global Core Infrastructure TPI Climate Transition Index measures the performance of a basket of investable securities in FTSE-defined infrastructure sub-sectors and alternative electricity sub-sector.

The constituent weights for this index are adjusted as part of the semi-annual review of the FTSE Global Core Infrastructure Index where constituent weights vary to account for risks and opportunities associated with the transition to a low carbon economy. The index combines data and analysis from FTSE Russell and the Transition Pathway Initiative (TPI) and applies the following exclusions: Controversies.
