

Russell Midcap Value Index

About the index

The Russell Midcap® Value Index measures the performance of US mid cap value stocks. The index includes companies with relatively lower price-to-book ratios, lower 2-year I/B/E/S forecast growth and lower historical 5-year sales growth. The index is reconstituted fully in June to ensure accurate representation of the US mid cap value style, with updates for parent index membership changes in December and quarterly IPO inclusions in March and September. Since March 24, 2025, the index applies quarterly capping if constituent weights exceed target RIC thresholds.

Russell Growth and Value indexes set the Style standard

Representative

Designed to better adapt to the changing markets, this groundbreaking innovation has now become industry standard with a comprehensive series of US Style indexes that best reflect the specific style or market segment being measured.

Practical

The Russell Style Indexes provide investors with a practical set of indexes that can be used to express different style views, as benchmarks or as the basis of passive funds.

Robust

To create its Style indexes, FTSE Russell employs a multi-variable approach, using book-to-price, I/B/E/S forecast medium-term growth and historical sales per share growth to determine whether a company is part of the Growth or Value investment universe.
