After making any such determination, FTSE Russell shall advise the market of its decision at the earliest opportunity. Any such treatment will not be considered as an exception or change to the Ground Rules, or to set a precedent for future action, but FTSE Russell will consider whether the Ground Rules should subsequently be updated to provide greater clarity.

Section 4

Eligible Securities

4.0 Eligible Securities

4.1 The constituents of the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index are selected from the FTSE All-World Index excluding all real estate investment trusts REITs (ICB Sector 8670) and ranked by forecast dividend yield.

4.2 All stocks that are forecast to pay a zero dividend over the next 12 months or do not have available forecast dividend information will be excluded from the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index. ("Dividends" excludes any non-regular or "special" distributions.)

4.3 12 Month Forward Dividend Yield

4.3.1 The dividend yield data used in the review calculation is based on forecast dividends per share from I/B/E/S.

To determine the forecast dividend yield, 12 month forward dividend per share forecast is calculated using the most recent I/B/E/S forecast DPS values prior to the review data cut-off date, divided by the underlying FTSE Russell stock price at the review data cut-off date. I/B/E/S data will be taken from the close of business on the third Thursday of February and August.

DPS estimates are converted to the currency of the security price as of the review data cut-off date using WM/Reuters exchange rates.

Definition:

12 month Forward Dividend Yield expressed as a percentage:

$$\frac{[n * DPS_{FY1} + (12-n) * DPS_{FY2}]}{P} * \frac{100}{12}$$

Where:

$n$  is the number of months to company's current fiscal year end (FY1).

$P$  is the security price

$DPS_{FY1}$  is the I/B/E/S Mean FY1 DPS converted to the currency of the security price

$DPS_{FY2}$  is the I/B/E/S Mean FY2 DPS converted to the currency of the security price

Section 5

- 5.2 The FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index will be reviewed semi-annually in March and September using data at the close of business on the last day of February and August taking into account any additions and deletions that may take place during the underlying index rebalance or review. The review will be implemented after the close of business on the third Friday (i.e. effective Monday) of March and September.
- 5.3 The FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index aims to contain the highest yielding stocks accounting for 50% of the investable market capitalisation of the Eligible Securities as defined in Section 4.

At subsequent rebalancings of the index, a security that is not in the index will become a constituent in the index if its yield rank is above the 45th percentile based on investable market capitalisation. An index constituent will remain in the index until its yield rank falls below the 55th percentile based on investable market capitalisation.
- 5.5 A constant number of constituents will not be maintained for the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index.

Corporate Actions and Events

7.0 Corporate Actions and Events

7.1 Full details of changes to constituent companies due to corporate actions and events can be accessed in the Corporate Actions and Events Guide using the following link:

Corporate Actions and Events Guide.pdf

Indexes Algorithm and Calculation Methodology

---

8.0 Indexes Algorithm and Calculation Methodology

8.1 Prices

8.1.1 The FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index will use actual last trade prices, where available, for securities.

8.1.2 Reuters real-time exchange rates are used in the real-time index calculations.

8.2 Index Calculation

8.2.1 The FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index calculation formula is as follows:

$$\sum_{i=1}^N \frac{(p_i \times e_i \times s_i \times f_i)}{d}$$

Where,

- $i=1, 2, \dots, N$
- $N$  is the number of securities in the index.
- $p_i$  is the latest trade price of the component security (or the price at the close of the index on the previous day).
- $e_i$  is the exchange rate required to convert the security's currency into the index's base currency.
- $s_i$  is the number of shares in issue used by FTSE Russell for the security, as defined in these Ground Rules.
- $f_i$  is the Investability Weighting Factor to be applied to a security to allow amendments to its weighting, expressed as a number between 0 and 1, where 1 represents a 100% free float. This factor is published by FTSE Russell for each security in the underlying index.
- $d$  is the divisor, a figure that represents the total issued share capital of the Index at the base date. The divisor can be adjusted to allow changes in the issued share capital of individual securities to be made without distorting the index.
