FTSE DAR Classification of Digital Asset Exchanges

30 January 2026

The classification status of digital asset exchanges that are eligible as a pricing source for the FTSE DAR Reference Prices is governed by the FTSE DAR Digital Asset Exchange Vetting Process. FTSE DAR Reference Prices for Benchmark Assets are used in the calculation of the FTSE Global Digital Asset Index Series.

The FTSE DAR Digital Asset Exchange Vetting Process is used to determine if a digital asset exchange qualifies as “Participating”, “Watchlist” or “Unclassified”. It allows for a pre-determined quarterly review of digital asset exchanges at each March, June, September, and December month-end, and details the instances in which there would be an immediate loss of eligibility based on published criteria.

The results of the December 2025 FTSE DAR Digital Asset Exchange Review can be found in the remainder of this announcement. The next quarterly review will take place in March 2026.

1. Unclassified Exchanges

The following digital asset exchanges have been reclassified from “Watchlist” to “Unclassified” after failing the criteria for “Watchlist” exchange as of 28 January 2026:

- ProBit Global*

*On 31 December 2025, ProBit Global released an announcement of service termination. ProBit global terminated all spot trading on 28 January 2026 00:00:00 UTC. Effective 28 January 2026, FTSE Russell has removed ProBit Global from “Watchlist” classification. For more information, visit: ProBit Global Service Termination - Announcements

Prices from this exchange will no longer contribute to FTSE DAR Reference Prices – Non-Benchmark Assets, effective 28 January 2026 at 22:00:15 UTC.
