

New Universal Government Bond Index Tracking Files Available as Part of Standard FTSE Fixed Income Index Packages

As part of our commitment to supporting index users with a comprehensive suite of tools to manage our indices, FTSE Russell are pleased to announce a new range of universal government bond tracking files that are available as standard in FTSE Fixed Income Index Packages at no additional cost.

Each regional package will contain a complete set of new universal tracker files, one set for nominal government bond markets, and one set for inflation-linked government bond markets. These universal tracker files contain all government bond markets currently tracked by FTSE Russell, and will ensure that regional coverage is complete in each package.

The Global universal files include all markets currently tracked, such that every country appears in the Global file and one regional tracker file at a minimum. Additionally, markets classified as 'Emerging' according to the FTSE Fixed Income Index methodology will also be tracked in the Emerging Markets package universal files. For example, the FTSE Qatar Government Bond Index is tracked in the Global, EMEA and EM universal nominal government bond tracker files.

Once coverage is initiated on a country and the government bond index is launched, it then enters the respective tracker file and remains there until such time that a market is no longer tracked by FTSE Russell. Today, countries are listed in alphabetical ticker order, but new countries will be added at the end of files for efficiency. Please note that Index Level files (with the prefix 'IX') will include a country-level index for each market, and all relevant sub-indices for each country. Issue Level files (with the prefix 'IL') will include all standard keywords, except the 'IndexWeight' keyword will remain blank.

A full list of files and country tracking available is shown in table 1.
