FTSE Russell March 2025 Index Review: Treatment of New Additions

21 February 2025

On 19 December 2024, FTSE Russell announced the decision to enhance the free float methodology effective in conjunction with the June 2025 index review. To reduce the potential impact of reverse turnover, FTSE Russell will screen all new additions for the March 2025 review against the current free float restrictions guidelines and the enhanced free float methodology.

In the event a new addition for the March 2025 index review is deemed to fail the minimum 5% free float requirement rule as part of the June 2025 transition to the enhanced free float methodology, FTSE Russell will not proceed with the inclusion of that security at the March 2025 index review.
